

BROCK® Rigid Auger Systems Deliver the Goods

When you need a solid-core auger system for moving some feeds and grain from your hopper-bottom bulk storage bin, consider one of the high-quality BROCK® Rigid Auger Systems.

Brock markets a four-inch (102-mm) diameter rigid auger system for use in moving some feeds. We also offer a six-inch (152-mm) diameter rigid auger for grain moving and limited feed handling applications. Both rigid auger systems are manufactured to meet the high quality standards Brock customers have come to expect from Brock's broad line of feed and grain storage bins.

Brock also offers a line of auger accessories (see back page), including a variety of bin boot configurations, transitions and Universal Parts Kit – all are designed to further enhance the versatility of the BROCK Rigid Auger System in meeting your needs.

The versatility of all Brock hopper-bottom bin boots is improved by the addition of the optional Universal Parts Kit. Available for both the four-inch and six-inch rigid auger systems, the Universal Parts Kit can be used with a 30° transition to adjust the auger incline angle from a 5° below horizontal to a full 65° above.

Whatever your rigid auger needs, there's a broad range of accessories available to help you design your conveying system to your exact specifications.

Six-inch (152-mm) Auger Drive Motor Mount

Brock offers a variety of 30° (incline angle) and straight-out bin outlet boots – 16-inch (406-mm) diameter plastic transition, 25-inch (635-mm) diameter galvanized steel transitions, and twin outlet boots. The BROCK® Rigid Auger System also includes a mount for the auger's drive motor shown at left.

Need more boot incline than that provided by Brock's 30-degree boot transitions? Brock offers 7 1/2-degree and 15-degree galvanized steel transitions for attaching to the bottom of both our 16-inch (shown at left) and 25-inch (shown below) boot transitions.
